

1	U.S. commission cites 'moral imperative' to explore AI weapons By Jeffrey Dastin, Paresh Dave - JANUARY 26, 2021 (Reuters) - The United States should allow the use or development of autonomous weapons powered by artificial intelligence (AI) software, a government-appointed panel said in a draft report for Congress.
2	Researchers built an AI that plays chess like a person, not a super computer They trained Maia on millions of online games played by humans. Kris Holt, @krisholt - January 26, 2021
3	Can Care Robots Improve Quality Of Life As We Age? Rob Girling - Jan 18, 2021, 09:00am EST With names like Lovot, Pillo, Paro, Moflin, and Qoobo (all real), there is a growing class of robots on the market that claim to deliver the benefits of human connection through AI and machine learning technology. Their primary audience? The elderly.
4	Walmart is expanding its robot-powered fulfillment centers to 'dozens of locations' Walmart piloted its first fulfillment center in 2019 By Taylor Lyles@TayNixster Jan 27, 2021, 11:08am EST These warehouses use wheeled robots – called Alphabots – to pick items from the shelves and prepare orders placed online. Alphabots will retrieve items ordered online such as boxed or frozen items. However, the company said that its human employees would still be tasked with grabbing fresh items like meat and produce in addition to larger items.
5	AI-Enabled Drone Shows US Army It Can Localize Targets Tong Ong January 26, 2021 The small drone identified a target using computer vision and sent an alert with details of the potential threat's precise location and an image for positive identification.

→ Are these headlines / the events they broadcast scary or positive? Justify your answer with 2 different reasons and be ready to present them to the group.

N°	SCARY	GOOD	YOUR REASONS
1			<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • •
2			<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • •
3			<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • •
4			<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • •
5			<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • •